

Hybrid car questionnaire

It's not worth the money for the amount I drive.

Where could you get fuel?
Tesco sells diesel and petrol.

Won't they be expensive to buy?

They wouldn't make 'green' family cars.

Would they be cheaper to run?

If everyone bought one, there would just be more cars on the road - pointless!

Diesel cars are more efficient.

Big cars should be taxed more than smaller cars.

All cars should cost the same to buy - after all, it's the running that is expensive.

Where would you buy them?

Why should they be any cheaper to run than a petrol car?

Small cars cause just as much pollution.

I drive long distances for work, so it won't help me - I'd still be driving, after all.

Car manufacturers don't make environmentally friendly cars.
